A "REGULATION" by its nature is always conditioned by individual freedom which it wants to harmonize with the collective one. Its "RULES" of a general nature place restrictions fully justified by its aim of creating better conditions for a richer and more human civil coexistence, in terms of education, respect and mutual esteem. We therefore trust entirely on the awareness and consent of our welcome guest to comply with these modest limitations that will allow him to have a more serene, peaceful and relaxing stay, and will avoid the unpleasant intervention of the management to restore the troubled order. We thank for the appreciated collaboration and wish you the happiest stay.
